

VIN DE PAYS DU VAL DE LOIRE

INDICATION GÉOGRAPHIQUE PROTÉGÉE

SAUVIGNON BLANC

The Loire is undoubtedly the most famous region for the Sauvignon Blanc grape in France. This particular example is sourced from less fashionable vineyards at the western end of the region, but are still more than capable of delivering distinct wines with both varietal character coupled with a sense of place. Understated and authentic, this modest wine will satisfy those who appreciate the more subtle qualities of the grape.
